workshop 1: family, education and training

phase 1: critique imagination next steps

Education

- education depends on one's financial situation
- underpaid / underqualified teachers provoke a vicious circle
- youths prefer working because they are not motivated to study

workshop 1: family, education and training

phase 1: critique imagination next steps

- bad facilities and organization
- there are big differences at both national and international level
- many young unemployed graduates
- people are forced to study what economy requests

workshop 1: family, education and training

phase 1: critique imagination next steps

Family

- big differences in the world concerning family relationships
- parents have a big influence and control over their children
- independent thinking is not encouraged

workshop 1: family, education and training

phase 2: critique imagination next steps

Our dreams:

- motivation and fun
- young people should have more power and freedom
- family members should be there for each other

workshop 1: family, education and training

phase 2: critique imagination next steps

- parents - teachers – student – we are all one big family
- perfect schools including any kind of leisure activities with enough money
- young people should only go to school and should not work at all

workshop 1: family, education and training

phase 2: critique imagination next steps

- studies in countries all over the world should be possible, as well as work
- enterprises providing fully paid internships for everyone
- global equality

workshop 1: family, education and training

phase 3: critique imagination next steps

Solutions:

- provide more money for equal and free education and its facilities
- state grants for the living
- reforms to ensure teaching competence

workshop 1: family, education and training

phase 3: critique imagination next steps

- foreign language teaching
- programs to discuss and solve immigration problems with the immigrants
- more exchange of ideas, experiences, international cooperation
